"REFORM"

Management at Penal Institution Allows Escape of Fifty-Six Prisoners.

Versatile Mr. Lucas Tries to Prove Lincoln was Mistaken in Proverb.

Sugene Dailey Establishes Reputation as Humorist in Banquet Talk.

POLICE DOG PINES AWAY.

Last Saturday the Kentucky Irish American remarked that the escapades of Wendling, the murderer, proved that it was just as easy for a prisoner to leave the Frankfort Penitentiary as it was for a prisoner to leave the Louisville jail, and that is simple enough. Sunday night three prisoners, two of them murderers, left the Frankfort Penitentiary without any trouble, thus making a total of seventeen prisoners who have escaped from that institution in the past ten months, while thirty-nine have escaped from road camps. There is no record of how many convicts pursue the same course as Wendling and leave the institution to return at their own pleasure. The bitter protest of the citizens of Frankfort to out "reform" Governor seems to have had little effect and "Howdy Ed" continues to be the best asset the Democratic party has in the State. From time to time we can look forward to stories of mismanagement in our penal institutions, as the Juniper Club chief and "reform" assistants are like Morrow, long on promises but short on performance.

Poor old Abe Lincoln must have turned over in his grave last Saturday night while the banquet of the local Republican machine was in progress at the Seelbach Hotel under the misnomer of a Lincoln day celebration. Machine politicians, city and county office holders, renegade Democrats and ward heelers celebrating the anniversary of a great American President, and all trying to prove that Lincoln was wrong when he said that "you can't fool all the people all the time." Under the guise of "reform" the Hert-Searcy-Chilton machine fooled pretty near all the people by electing a new Mayor and an incompetent administration in 1917, and the banquet was a prelude to prove that old Abe was wrong about fooling 'em all the time. The toastmaster was Robert H. Lucas, who fills a dual role as Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court and Chairman of the Republican City and County Committee. Toastmaster Lucas led off with an address that seemed to have been a homeric juggling from the comments about town, and several leading Republicans say that Chas and the Log Cabin editor should have censored his speech before the banquet.

The Louisville Times tells us Thursday of a crook disguised as a countryman out on Eighteenth street, harassing everyone right and left, many of the merchants in that vicinity being victims. He wore overalls tucked in his boots, chin whiskers and had all the appearances of the country constable in "Way Down East." Our noble Keystone from the Seventh district were all around, twenty of them and a patrol wagon being enlisted in the chase. Many seem to think that this garb of a countryman fooled all of the Keystoneers, as they evidently thought he was one of their number doing plain clothes duty. We hope that after Dr. Welch reads this he will tender that delayed apology to the Irish for saying that the present police department was composed mostly of Irish. Speaking of country sleuths, have you ever seen the funny Keystone detective who poses as a "detective" for catching automobileists who linger overtime on Fourth avenue. This Cap Collier wears a ministerial looking coat, a Pike county sombrero and a celluloid collar that may have been clean a long, long time ago. He gets down on his knees on the curbing and marks auto tires with the sympathetic figures of 2:58, 3:29, 12:52, or such odd hours, meaning the time the auto began its parking time. The odd minutes are probably a habit of his street car days when he was "railing" on the Brook street car line. He's a smooth one alright, and must be a terror to automobile drivers.

This is the story of a dog, known as "Bum," the police dog, and was a pet and pride of the Louisville police department when we had real police. Under the Democratic administration "Bum" was discovered and earned wide reputation as first aide to the police in tracking wild-doers and for his faithfulness in patrolling beats with the patrolmen. When the Republican "reform" administration came into power "Bum" found his role little harder in becoming attached to policemen as the old men were forced to make way for the Keystoneers. The country and parks of the Keystoneers never appealed to "Bum" who took his duties seriously, and the sight of the uniform meant less and less to him all the time. In the past year or two "Bum" would run up to one of the present cops only to be disappointed when he found that it was a motorman or conductor disguised as a policeman. Daily "Bum" learned to his sorrow that only a few real policemen were left, and he began to pine away and this past week he died of a broken heart.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

For the first time since he was taken ill more than two months ago, Cardinal Gibbons last Friday attended church service. He went into the Cathedral during the noon hour Lenten services.

the election laws, as for instance, suppose one of the enthusiastic colored Republicans register and vote two or three times we behold Mr. Lucas as Prosecutor of the Police Court trying to punish his fellow-Republican. Thus we have the versatile Mr. Lucas standing between love and duty. As a Republican Chairman he must love the offending Republican, but as a duty to the public he is expected to prosecute him with all the vigor possible. Some people seem to think that the position of Republican Chairman is incompatible with that of Prosecutor, but to date the objection doesn't seem to worry the "reform" leader.

Speaking of humor at the banquet, we will agree with the Louisville Herald when it awards the palm to Eugene Dailey, the near Mayor's Secretary. The Herald said that Mr. Dailey won much laughter and applause, having great difficulty in reading the speech assigned him. Regardless of party you will have to concur in the Herald's findings. Just get this one from Mr. Dailey and it must have brought down the house for real unadulterated humor. Pointing at George Welsh-Smith he said: "There is the greatest and best Mayor the city of Louisville ever had." Now that's what everyone will call real humor, and we only hope that Mr. Dailey can be persuaded to "spring" this choice bit of humor on every street corner in Louisville this coming campaign. If the near Mayor's Secretary can intersperse his campaign speeches with funny witticisms like the one about "Smithy" being our prize Mayor then Bill Thorne and other humorists will have to look to their laurels.

About the only cost around here not going down with the other price reductions is the cost of fires. We never hear of the "hick" fire department having any cheap fires. They are all big fires that run into thousands of dollars. This week we had the Bayless Bros. fire with an estimated loss of $25,000 and just half a square away the Stiebel fire two days later with a $20,000 loss. If you attend any fire you are pretty apt to see everything the city has in the way of fire apparatus, as all fires now are pretty near third alarm fires—that is everything and everybody is brought out to save the town. Of course calling out all of the fire apparatus is a little costly on the taxpayers and a little risky for other parts of town away from the fire, but under the present regime of "hicks" it seems as if everyone is needed to extinguish an ordinary blaze. Here's another familiar statement in connection with the fires: "Much damage was done by water." Niagara Falls runs a bad second when we have fire, as the "hick" firemen believe greatly in the power of water (at a fire) and try to douse everything in sight, so there will not be any risk in getting at close quarters. One of the Assistant Chiefs remarked recently that he was done gone tired of handling country firemen.

OVERLOOKS THE RECORD

Toastmaster, Prosecutor and Republican Chairman Lucas at Lincoln day banquet forgot several things in his eulogy of "reform" administration.

GENERAL MEETING.

Having received holy communion at their respective churches Sunday morning members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society filled the Knights of Columbus Hall when the general meeting was held in the afternoon. President John Doyle occupied the chair and received a number new members into the society at large. Secretary Bohan read the reports of the conferences and the Special Works Committee, and they were briefly discussed and ratified.

Showing that much real charity was dispensed and many poor people given aid by this great society. Thomas Keenan made a strong appeal in behalf of the suffering women and children in Erin, urging his hearers to co-operate with the American Association for Relief in Ireland.

DISCOURAGING.

The words of King George in his speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament on Tuesday afford some hope for justice for oppressed Ireland. King George expressed himself as favorably disposed toward a commercialized treaty with the Russian Reds, but discussing the Irish question he is reported as saying:

"The situation in Ireland still causes me distress. A misguided section of the Irish people persists in resorting to methods of criminal violence with the object of establishing an independent republic. Neither Irish unity nor Irish self-government can be attained by this means. Arrangements for bringing into force the Government's Irish law are not well advanced and I earnestly trust that the men further the majority of the people will show their determination to repudiate violence and give effect to an act which confers upon them responsibilities of self-government and provides machinery by which they can attain Irish unity by constitutional means."

ASKED TO GO TO ROME.

Dom Edmond M. Obrecht, abbot at Gethsemani Monastery, fifty miles south of Louisville in Nelson county, was invited by his intimate friend, Archbishop Dennis J. Dougherty, Philadelphia, to accompany him to the next Papal consistory at Rome, where the Philadelphia cardinal will be made an American Cardinal. Abbot Obrecht, however, found he was unable to make the trip and gave expression to his deep regret. Archbishop Dougherty was among the dignitaries who took part in the ceremony when Abbot Obrecht took charge at Gethsemani in 1938. The two Catholic leaders have been close friends for many years.

HOLY NAME ELECTION.

The Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's church met Sunday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, John H. Hennessy; Vice President, John J. Barry; Financial Secretary, Thos. P. Keegan; Recording Secretary, Frank X. Driscoll; Treasurer, F. Burke; Marshals, Thomas Lynch and Leo Meyer. Rev. Father R. G. Lyons is chaplain and under his guidance the society bears the distinction of being the largest branch of the Holy Name Society south of the Ohio river.

BEQUEST TO SISTERS.
Real estate valued at $500 was given to the Little Sisters of the Poor by the will of Johanna Garlin, and bequests of $200 each were made to St. Vincent and St. Thomas Orphanages. The remainder of the estate, valued at $1,200, was given to Mrs. Edward Von Roenn, a friend.

Jesuits and Church Have Been Firm Champions of Public Education.

Civita Catolica Pays For Its Courage by Being Suppressed in Naples.

The Best Way to Get Possession of the Minds of the Masses.

NO MERE CHANCE HAPPENING.

An interesting bit of history, illustrating the attitude of a prominent Jesuit towards education of the people, is related in L'Ecole Emancipee, the organ of the French Public School Teachers' Association. According to a translation of the article published in the Living Age, there were assembled in Paris one day in November, 1849, at a time when the much discussed Falloux law for the regulation of public instruction in France was being agitated, several distinguished gentlemen, Falloux's associates in drafting the law. The gentlemen named were the noted Catholicophile Ulpiano Venuillet, forceful editor of L'Univers; Count Montalembert, Monsignore Parisis, the Bishop of Languedoc; the statesman Thiers, and a Jesuit, whose name is not given in the article. It is slightly colored with a liberalistic tinge, the article Thiers and Falloux favored the draft of the law, the Jesuit, however, was inclined to consider it "too liberal." It appeared that the opinion of the latter would prevail when the Jesuit father, who until then had taken no active share in the discussion, asked for permission to speak and declared:

"It seems to me that all that has been said so far is based upon an initial error. You are all afraid of public education. You fancy that when people are educated it will be impossible to govern them, and that as their knowledge increases they will be more prone to revolution. In fact, historians have discovered that public instruction deteriorated in France during the 18th century, in fact, during the reign of such monarchs as Louis XIV. and Louis XV. And it is also a fact that the capitalistic bourgeois in both France and England were none too anxious to establish public education when they had succeeded to power, and that for the very reasons which Jesuit father brought out so clearly. ORDINATIONS.

Edward Carlin, a son of the Covington Cathedral parish, and Michael Tierney, of Ashland, were ordained to the deaconship last Sunday morning by Right Rev. Bishop Brossart in the chapel of His Lordship. Today at St. Mary Seminary they will be ordained to the priesthood by His Grace Most Rev. Archbishop Henry Moeller. Today also Oscar L. Poole, of Leitchfield, will be ordained to the priesthood at the Covington diocese at Baltimore.

TRANSFER OF CHAPLAIN.

Rev. Father Ignatius Fealy, U. S. A., chaplain of the Third Cavalry stationed at Fort Myer, Virginia, has been ordered transferred to Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas. During the war Father Fealy was chief instructor at the Chaplains' Training School at Camp Taylor, the city, and is known to thousands of men in the army, having been commissioned in 1914.

DEACON GETS RING.

M. J. Walsh, the contracting painter and veteran baseball umpire, was given a real surprise at the meeting of the Master Painters' Association here last week. Following the presentation that he had served sixteen years as Treasurer, he was given a handsome diamond ring, of two beautiful stones, as a token of the esteem in which he is held. Will Brady, the plumber, a neighbor of Walsh, says that since the presentation the deacon threw away one of his gloves, but he is accused of envy by Walsh's fellow deacons. Hennessy, McDermott and Lynch.

WILL AID ERIN.

With over 300 people, representing all sections of Kentucky, assembled in Lexington last Saturday, the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic was formally organized and the first annual State convention held. The proceedings were harmonious and earnest and press good work for suffering Erin. Moderation but firm and united action were advocated by the different speakers and the resolutions adopted. Election of officers and passage of resolutions calling on Congress immediately to recognize the Irish Republic were the outstanding features of the convention. The officers elected were: President—Martin T. Kelly, Lexington; Vice President—Frank J. Hanlon-Covington; Secretary—Richard J. Higgins, Newport; Treasurer—Miss Mary Corcoran, Louisville.

The Board of Directors is composed of Frank McCarthy, Lexington; Richard Tobin, Frankfort; E. H. Gory, Paris; Thomas Conry, Covington; Thomas McGuigan, Paducah; John Tierney, Newport; John Nolan, Richmond; J. Cassidy, Bellevue; Owen Sullivan, Louisville; Fred J. Schmitz, Latonia; Nora E. Cooper, Nicholasville.

John G. Regan, of Newport, was named National Director of the association from Kentucky. Delegates were instructed to form their chapters and to hold elections to name delegates to the national convention to be held in Chicago some time in April.

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bridget C. Jeffries, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Pierce, 727 South Eighteenth street, were held at the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Father Walsh celebrating the requiem mass. Mrs. Jeffries leaves a son, James J. Jeffries.

Tuesday morning the funeral of Conrad Wlek, an aged produce dealer, was held from St. Paul's church, Rev. Father Donahue conducting the services. He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bauer, 1134 East Barnett avenue, with whom he resided; Mrs. Theresa Puhon, Mrs. Mary Herlihy and Miss Rosie Wick, and a brother, Joseph Wlek.

Friends and relatives are deeply grieved over the death of Mrs. Mary Herlihy, beloved wife of Patrick Healy, 2912 Slevin street, last Sunday afternoon. She was thirty-six years old and was held in high esteem by neighbors and all who knew her. The funeral took place Tuesday morning with requiem mass at St. Cecilia's church.

Mrs. Lydia Sticker, beloved wife of Anthony Sticker, closed her eyes on Wednesday morning at her home in Shepherdsville. The remains were brought to the residence of her sister, Mrs. Sallie Arlington, 2102 West Walnut, the funeral taking place Tuesday morning from St. Charles church. Rev. Father Raffo conducting the solemn obsequies.

CARDINAL LOGUE.

Fairies from the Emerald Isle have to smile on Mrs. Rosalie Cox, wife of James Cox, near Rose Hill, Oldham county, as she evidently is one of three heirs to an estate in County Derry, Ireland. A few days ago a letter from John J. Dwyer, attorney, 61 Broadway, New York, was received by the Lexington Herald asking that paper to aid in locating Patrick Sweeney or any of his children, as "a substantial inheritance in County Derry awaits him or his heirs." Mrs. Cox is one of the three children of Patrick Sweeney. John and Michael Sweeney, her brothers, live in Lexington. John is chief engineer at the Lafayette Hotel. Their father, Patrick Sweeney, who was born in County Derry, Ireland, was for a

FINGER OF GUILT.

The pro-English press in this city is now busy covering up England's attempt to defraud the United States of its war loan by not mentioning the countrywide protests. Thus one can guess who is receiving a slice of the Lord Northcliffe slush fund.

SIMILAR CASE.

Lloyd George, the Premier liar and hypocrite of the age who opposes the establishment of an Irish Republic on the grounds that it might provide a base for lurking submarines, brings to mind that the United States should oppose the British control in the West Indies because of the danger to the Panama canal.

DOES SPLENDID WORK.

The American Committee for Irish Relief is doing splendid work and work that is absolutely necessary to save a goodly fraction of the Irish people from starvation and death.

In a letter received recently from Ireland by one of our readers is a graphic picture of conditions there, including the primary cause of the distress that prevails over large areas. The shooting of live stock on the farms and the destruction of the reserves of foodstuffs appear to be one of the duties of the Black and Tans, and that duty they are discharging with unflagging zeal. "They mean to starve the people into submission," says the writer of the letter referred to. They have, however, reckoned without the host in this case, for the American Committee will see to it that no one suffers for the necessities of life. It will also call attention to British atrocities in Ireland in a manner that can not be ignored by the press and the public, who are accustomed to exhibitions of indignation at the horrors perpetrated by the Turks in Armenia, and we doubt not it will make new friends for the old cause amongst those who formerly were indifferent.

MEANS MORE GRAFT.

It appears that the Smith-Towner bill, which is aimed at the centralization of educational power and surveillance in Federal officials, calls for an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 with which to maintain its various officials and bureaus at the national capital. This is a large amount of money to have added to the people's taxation at any time, and even when the expenditure is necessary and therefore approved. The present time, however, demands retrenchment instead of additional expense, and the purposes of the bill have not been approved of the people. It is not hard to understand why the whole plan is strongly advocated by certain individuals. It would set up a huge political grafting chance. Still, the most serious result of the bill's passage would be its taking away from the States and their people control of their own schools and school funds. Tell your congressmen to vote against this measure, and also your Senators. They ought to be against more taxation without any urging, but perhaps they have some private reasons for being in favor of having school funds manipulated in Washington. At least education and the schools ought to be kept free from Federal politics and the suspicion of graft designs.

DOUBLE-FACED.

The Courier-Journal, discussing the Debs case, says it "can understand and respect the motives of the man whose conscience prevents him from fighting for his country when that country has embarked upon a war of conquest." When Liebknecht denounced the Kaiser for making this wicked war, and bravely suffered the consequences, there was something heroic in the act, but we find nothing heroic in the conduct of the men and women in America, who saw nothing worthy of condemnation in Germany's effort to enslave Belgium. Will our neighbor explain why it sees nothing worthy of condemnation in England's effort to keep Ireland enslaved? Will the editor speak out? Kaiser and King, both are alike and not to be trusted. For the Courier-Journal's hostile attitude "there's a reason" which it has not dared make known.

Mr. and Mrs. John Buerer announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Christine Buerer, to LeRoy Ulmer. The wedding was quietly solemnized Tuesday afternoon of last week at St. Charles Borromeo church, the Rev. Charles P. Raffo officiating in the presence of the two families. Mr. and Mrs. Ulmer left for Paris, Ky., where they will make their home.

LAYMEN'S RETREAT.

Many Catholic men will be interested in the announcement that arrangements are being made for a week-end retreat for laymen under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, to be modeled after the laymen's retreats in the East, especially those given at Overbrook Seminary

"Why Is It Necessary to Advertise Your Preferred Stock?"

WE hear this question every now and then. It is asked by persons not familiar with our customer-ownership plan or with the financial requirements of service corporations. The same question might have been asked, however, as to why it was necessary to advertise Liberty Bonds and for thousands of volunteer salesmen to induce people to buy them.

The old idea of stock ownership of a successful corporation was that of exclusiveness. From the shareholders' point of view the fewer the shareholders the better, as there would then be larger proportionate profits to divide. On this theory new stock was quietly taken up by the old shareholders and seldom or never offered to the public.

The customer-ownership idea is the exact opposite of exclusiveness. It aims at the widest possible distribution of stock ownership among the largest possible number of citizens. In this way the necessary profits (reasonable profits being essential to any industry or individual) are shared with electric and gas consumers. As every share of preferred stock has a vote, the holder is entitled to a voice in the affairs of the Company.

Today anyone who wants to reach large numbers of people must advertise—must use the newspapers and the mails—and must do so persistently because competition is keen and everyone has many things to think of in this busy age.

An electric and gas company in a growing city must continually keep adding to its plant capacities and distributing systems in order to meet growing demands for service. It requires new capital all the time as long as it grows and does more business. In order to keep service rates reasonable the Company can not finance all new construction out of its earnings. It must have new capital from time to time, which, of course, is put to work on a profitable basis.

Last year about $1,000,000 of new capital supplied by 1,700 new shareholders was invested in property additions and a large amount of new business done as the result. This year the construction programme is quite extensive, as might be expected in a city where the electrical demands have doubled in the last four years.

As long as Louisville and the Company grow, and as long as we continue the policy of extending the small investor and the wage earner the opportunity of becoming part owners of the properties, you may expect to see our 7% Preferred Stock advertised.

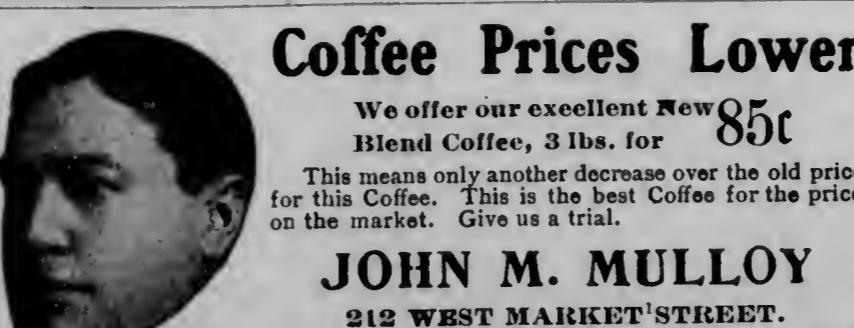

Like many other business institutions, we have found that through advertising and salesmanship we can obtain better results at less expense than in any other way. Just as advertising played a prominent part in more than doubling the number of homes enjoying the advantage of electricity, so it is helping us make numbers of new shareholders every day—and we derive more satisfaction from selling one share of stock each to ten people than selling ten shares to one person. Both small and large investors are welcome.

Twenty members of the Irish Sinn Fein delegation to the British Parliament now are in custody. The twentieth member was apprehended in Dublin on Sunday when N. J. Crowley, member for the North Division of Kerry, was arrested.

MRS. ANNE HENRY.

Mrs. Anne Henry, eighty-four years old, widow of Michael Henry, passed peacefully into eternal rest on Thursday evening of last week at her residence, 652 South Floyd street. She was a native of Ireland, and was a woman of fine Christian character and the mother of good men and women, all of whom are now living in Kentucky. Surviving her are three sons, Charles and Paul Henry, Louisville, and Father Stafford Henry, of St. Rose church, Cloverport, and three daughters, Misses Bridget and Rose Henry and Sister Mary Isabelle, of the Sisters of Charity. The funeral services were held at St. Mary Magdalene's church, Rev. Father Henry celebrating the high mass of requiem, assisted by Rev. Father James Kelly, of New York, a nephew of the deceased. May she rest in peace!

JOAN OF ARC.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and evening at 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock at St. Xavier's Gymnasium will be presented the most unique motion picture in the world, showing His Holiness Benedict canonizing St. Joan of Arc, with actual scenes in the Vatican and St. Peter's. Also a prologue telling the story of Joan the daugh from her childhood to the day when she was bound to the stake. This is the first time in history that the motion picture camera has been permitted to record an event of this kind. Those who see this picture will never forget the wonderful and magnificent spectacle. "Little Miss Sunshine," an intense comedy drama in five parts, will also be shown. This picture, full of heart interest and a wealth of comedy situation, has a sunbeam in every scene.

AMERICAN CARDINAL.

The Associated Press cables that the Vatican announced officially Sunday that the Most Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, will be created a Cardinal at the secret consistory to be held early in March.

Archbishop Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome early in March. He will be the guest of the American College in order to receive there ceremonial visits and congratulations on his elevation to the Cardinalship from the chief officials of the Papal and civil courts, high prelates and other friends and admirers. These visits will follow the secret consistory and will take place after Monsignor Dougherty has received notice of his nomination from the master of ceremonies, who will be sent for this purpose by the Pope, and after he has been to the Vatican to receive from the hands of the Pope a Cardinal's hat.

The Vatican has prepared the papal vestments for the appointment of a Bishop for Sioux Falls, S. D., which is expected to be made at the coming secret consistory. As there are some formalities still to be settled, however, no announcement of the name of the appointee has yet been made.

The new Bishop to be appointed for Sioux Falls, as announced from Rome, will not succeed Bishop Thomas O'Gorman, but will be his assistant, as it was declared Sunday.

Bishop O'Gorman's advanced age has made it difficult for him to care for all the demands of his growing diocese, it was explained.

PLEAD FOR MAYOR.

Counsel for Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, sought on Monday to have the State Department reconsider its decision that their client was without rights as a political refugee and subject to deportation because of his arrival in America as a stowaway without a passport. Department officers said careful consideration would be given to the claims of O'Callaghan's counsel, but it was intimated that the department still regards the case as one for the Department of Labor to pass upon.

IRISH RELIEF.

The American nation is responding generously to the call of Erin. The children of the exile have sworn that Ireland shall not starve. They would like to give as much as Ireland gave the struggling colonies, but that will not happen now. Recognition has been denied, armed intervention is not probable, but dollars shall be at Ireland's disposal while a republican remains to sound the principle of liberty or death. This is Kentucky's answer to the appeal of Cardinal Gibbons, sounded Thursday night at the meeting of citizens called by Chairman Owen Sullivan at the Seelbach Hotel. Organized to function solely for charity, aiding the starving women and children in Ireland, and not connected with any other question, the great meeting that was part of it forms a happy augury for the success of the movement. Reports reaching Chairman Sullivan indicate that the State will be in action while influential committees, representing those high in the business and social world, are urging those of their own class to give a response worthy of Kentucky to Erin's call for help. The meeting taking place too late for this issue, the full report will appear next week.

COLUMBIA ELECTION.

Monday night the Columbia Athletic Club held an enthusiastic meeting and adopted new rules for its government and extending its benefits. President Brueggeman presided, the reports of Ben Brumleve and the Secretaries were approved, and the club announced the Island Queen secured for the season's first river excursion. Most interest centered in the election of a Board of Directors, for which twenty-five names had been posted. Those who will form the new board are Messrs. Edw. C. Brueggeman, John Ratterman, William Fox, Ben C. Beckman, Edward Tobe, Edward Score, Henry C. Fetter, J. J. Hettinger, Ben Brumleve and Anthony Hellman. This board will meet Monday night at the officers' room in the year 1921. John Piedmont, who recently returned from a Southern trip, accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the next meeting. The House Committee had arranged a luncheon and refreshments that were appreciated. The Columbia Club is planning for another very active year.

LIMERICK REJOICING.

Limerick has been rejoicing since Tuesday night, when the Bertrand basketball team was victorious over the St. Xavier boys and is now tied for second place in the Catholic League. Mackin strengthened its hold on the championship, winning from the Knights of Columbus, while Trinity College defeated the Varnons. The leaders are not far apart and the battle for the remaining games will be vigorously contested.

TAKES NASHVILLE BRIDE.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Dowd, of Nashville, Tenn., announce the wedding of their daughter Helen to Howard W. Densford, of Louisville. The ceremony took place on Monday afternoon of last week in the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, the Rev. M. O'Connor officiating. Miss Helen Gathot, of Louisville, was the maid of honor, and the groomsmen were A. C. Kell and R. E. Baecher. The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gathot, of Louisville, and has visited here many times.

OPENS IN APRIL.

Directors of the new Visitation Home, 957 South Fourth street, have decided to open the home to the public formally with a tea to be given in April. The date will be announced later. The two residences on each side of the home, which were purchased some time ago, will be converted into annexes and connected with the present building. It is planned eventually to abolish the old Visitation Home at 614 West Walmsley street. The directors will continue to serve as an auxiliary to the Sisters of Mercy, who are in charge of the home.
